Introduction

Scope of the collections

The Putnam County Archives was established to identify, collect, preserve, and make accessible records created by and for the government of Putnam County, its affiliated agencies, and its municipalities. The County Archives hold records that have long-term governmental, historical, and legal importance.

The County Government Archives document collection contains nearly 200 series. The records begin officially in the year 1812 when Putnam County separated from Dutchess County, although numerous documents and/or copies as far back as the Revolution are also included. The archives collection arbitrarily extends 100 years to approximately 1912, but many series go through World War II and some records, e.g. the records of the County Charter Commission, may be from recent years. Records created since 1912 designated “permanent” will be added to the archives at a later date. The primary concentration of the records is the 19th Century and the early 20th Century. A directory follows this introduction. With a few exceptions, series in the county archives are open to researchers.

Also in the County Historian’s Office

There are other places to turn for historical sources that are not records of Putnam County Government. The County Historian’s office also maintains the Historian’s Collection and the Historian’s Library.

The County Historian’s Library holds a collection of books, periodicals and files relating to Putnam County history and genealogy. The Library also has county newspapers (some on microfilm), microfilm and many indexes of federal censuses to 1930, microfilm of public records held in other repositories, cemetery records, and family history files and books. It is open to the public during regular office hours (9:30 to 4:00 Monday through Wednesday and other weekdays by special appointment) It is a research library but not a lending library. For more information about the library, look up Library on the County Historian’s home page (www.putnamcountyny.com/historian). A listing of library holdings may be found in our Handbook for Putnam County History and Genealogy available for sale in the Historian’s Office. The library subscribes to ancestry.com/

The Historian’s Collection consists of non-governmental historical records in variety of formats. For a full description, click on Historian’s Collection on our home page, www.putnamcountyny.com/historian. Briefly, the Historian’s Collection consists of the following:

Digitized versions are available at hvrh.org. The maps are indexed.

The Photograph Collection contains thousands of images dating from the mid- 19th Century to present day, and includes a significant number from the files of The Patent Trader and The Putnam County Courier. The photography collection is indexed by subject, and many photos have been scanned.

Other Historical Resources in Putnam County

A great deal of information about each town and village in Putnam County can be gathered from local governments and from local historical societies and libraries. For instance, vital records (births, marriages, and deaths) from 1880/82 are kept by town and village clerks, although some (Kent's and Putnam Valley's) are available in the Historian's Office. The town and village historians also maintain files of historical material as do the local libraries. One should also look at the holdings of the local historical societies and museums - especially, the Putnam History Museum (formerly the Putnam County Historical Society and Foundry School Museum). For contact information on all of the clerks, municipal historians, libraries and historical societies, click on Town and Village Links on our home page www.putnamcountyny.com/historian. .

A Note on Court Records

The various series of court records held by the Putnam County Archives can be difficult to navigate. An 1823 critic noted that “the records of the court [NY] have never been kept in a proper state for easy recurrence, preservation, and prompt and safe removal in case of necessity.” Not only did the courts themselves change as the nation matured, but the indexing and filing systems used in the county changed as well; and, without documentation of those changes, it is left to interpretation to describe the contents and connections among the various series.

The arrangement and description of these records has been influenced by the manner and timing of their receipt in the archives. Not all records of the same series were received together and at the same time. This has led to duplicate groupings and overlap of dates in multiple folders. In earlier years, filed records from different courts seem have been intermixed in the county clerk’s office. This often occurred when a case was appealed from the court of original jurisdiction to a higher court.

The court records from the period before the reorganization of the courts in 1847 were received in the archives with no arrangement at all. They had been boxed for disposal in a landfill and were “rescued by the then county historian in the 1980s before state laws required their preservation. Primarily from the court of common pleas, the county court, and the supreme court, the county historian’s office arranged and preserved them as well as could be done at the time, organized by court, year, term, and case.

Later court records are better arranged, sometimes even bound. Only two series have case numbers – 034 Surrogate’s Court Records, Probate, and 045 Judgment Records/Roll from the Courts of Common Pleas, Supreme Court, Oyer & Terminer, and Putnam County. These records are reasonably easy to work with. Several other series – 013 Putnam County Court of Common Pleas, 1812-1848, 017 Putnam County Court Records, 046 Putnam County Court Orders and Rules, 047 Putnam County Supreme Court Civil Actions and related documents, 054 Orders of Discontinuances, are sometime possible to cross-reference. The records of the Court of Common Pleas have been indexed in COURTS.DTF and the names of the parties appear in the Names Access Database.

Outline of Courts’ Functions

The following information has been abstracted and condensed from Duely & Constantly Kept, (1991), published by NYS Court of Appeals and NYS Archives and Records Administration, Albany.

New York’s Supreme Court of Judicature was established in 1691 and modeled after the English court system. The Supreme Court Judges rode circuit and sat for fixed terms in any locality. It was a court of both original jurisdiction (major criminal cases, civil actions over £20 pounds, all real property actions) and appellate jurisdiction in both civil and criminal cases. After 1693 most cases were tried in county court: the court of common pleas in civil cases and the court of general sessions of the peace in criminal cases. The jurisdiction of each court overlapped with that of the Supreme Court. To make it more confusing, the Supreme Court was a court of Oyer and Terminer when it indicted or tried a criminal case and a circuit court when it acted as a court of original jurisdiction in an important civil case. With only minor changes, this court structure continued until court reorganization in 1847.

After 1847 and the creation of the Court of Appeals, the county clerks maintained the courts' trial records. The Supreme Court (NY State) mostly reviewed the proceedings and judgments of lower courts with limited jurisdiction. These lower courts were divided into civil and criminal branches. Courts of oyer and terminer remained branches of the Supreme Court until 1896. The county courts of common pleas and courts of general sessions were replaced with county courts having jurisdiction over lesser civil and all felony cases. The changes in the county courts are reflected in Series 113, Court Minutes which identifies courts as Common Pleas 1812-1847, County Court 1848-1857, County Court and Court of Sessions 1858-1895, and County Court 1896-1936. The county judge was also the surrogate.

Until 1847, there were few changes in the town courts of justices of the peace. After 1826, they were elected in each town. (In Putnam County towns, they do not appear to have been elected until 1831.) Justices sat in minor civil cases in their towns. Three justices or a judge and two justices could sit together as a county court of General Sessions or Special Sessions in criminal matters. Their records of convictions were filed with the county clerk.

Arrangement: chronological, then by town, then by district (joint districts last)

Description: Annual reports prepared by the trustees of common schools and to be submitted to the county commissioners (series 001). Data collected is that of names, wages and length of service of teachers, parents and guardians of children, income and expenditures, inventory of books and titles, and some descriptions of buildings and grounds. Of special interest for genealogy, in many years, trustees listed names and ages of each child along with the names of a parent or guardian. Statistics were compiled by county commissioners in Series .001.

Also included are some certificates of oath of office, filings regarding nominations, copy of seal of Commissioners of Elections (1911), certification of registration, declination of nomination, party appointments, election district boundaries (many of these documents were bound together by year, so they are being kept together in this series)

Series 004 Sheriffs, Bonds and Appointments

Extent: # 1 Volume 1812-1851 red binder A1U2S7
1 DB 1850, 1852-1916,1925 A2U1S3-13

Arrangement: chronological

Description: This is a record of cash Bonds, as required by New York State law, to be posted by newly elected sheriffs to insure they will faithfully execute their offices. Bond amounts ranged from $5000 in 1812 to $10,000 in 1851. The sheriffs made appointments of undersheriffs. Between 1841-1851 some documents record the office of the sheriff in locations other than the courthouse.

Series 005 Commitments to County Jail Records

Extent: # 1 Shared DB 1817-1894 A2U1S4-1

Arrangement: chronological

Description : This a record of prisoners committed and discharged to the county jail as ordered by the Court of Special Sessions. Many offenses are minor, such as intoxication. Among this data are two booklets with lists of prisoners' names by date of their incarceration that Sheriff R.R Barrett submitted to the Board of Supervisors.

Series 006 State Inspections of County Jail Reports

Extent: 1 folder in shared DB 1905-1947 A2U1S4-1

Arrangement: chronological

Description: This series includes reports by the inspector from the New York State Commission on Prisons regarding the Putnam County Jail. The reports describe the physical conditions of the jail and comparisons with accepted standards. In 1905 the inspector reported that the three cells are "practically dungeons - utterly unfit for human habitation" and the women's section was "objectionable, not to say intolerable." Other comments by the inspector pertain to uncorrected problems. These reports were submitted to the Board of Supervisors.

Records in Red Binders and Archie Boxes:

Arrangement: chronological

Description of volumes in red binders and contents of archive boxes: Record of invoices submitted by towns and individuals & 3rd parties for payment by the county government. The types of bills presented were for services of the assessor, road commissioners, election clerks and inspectors, constables for keeping and transporting prisoners, and justices of peace for examining prisoners and transporting them to jail. Other reimbursements requested were planks for bridges, damages for laying of roads, court attendance, assessments, supplies and medical expenses including those from lunatic asylums, etc . Since the records of the proceedings of the board of supervisors have been lost for the years prior to 1846, bills for the earlier period are especially valuable.

Records in Document Box:

Arrangement: These records were received by the County Archives in a group and were processed separately. They help fill in some of the missing dates in earlier records. Many of these bills were numbered (by hand) consecutively but no relationship was found with the supervisors minutes (Series .026) where many of approved expenses are listed in a numerical order. These records are ordered chronologically and not in their numeric order. Also, it is unknown why and who and when these papers were numbered. Some numbering appears contemporary to the documents, other appears to be much later. The records prior to 1877 – but not all of them – are numbered. In 1877, they seem to have switched to a lettering system, and many receipts/bills are identified with a letter. There appears to be a direct connection with series .094, ledgers from the treasurer’s office which start with volume A in 1877. Some of the receipts in series .007 match the letter designations in these volumes.

Description: These are mostly bills presented to the county and receipts. Included are purchases, military, poor house, NY State, towns, district attorney, schools, constable, judge, witness, justices, jury, sheriff payroll, clerk payroll, judgments, Putnam County National Bank checks, prisoners board, circulars, state (tax) receipts, roads, bounty on foxes, jail repair, food bills for poor house, asylum bills from upstate and out of state. One folder of military receipts, 1849-1866 gaps, has been segregated because of the special interest of some researchers. There are likely more that are still mixed in.

SEE also Series .25, .026, 033. which may contain similar records and .29 and .112 which have additional "poor" records. Due to the nature of receipt (somewhat piecemeal) of these records and its influence on subsequent processing, records of several established series are mixed – treasurer, county bills, and loan commissioners records, or reference thereto, may all be found in 007, .021, 025, 026, 033, and 094.

Series 008 Apportionment of State Money for Common Schools

Extent: 1 folder (shared Document Box) 1822-1860 A2U1S4-2

Arrangement: chronological

Description: These records are the result of the notification by New York State of the money appropriated by the State Legislature for the support of common schools in each town. This allocation is reported to the County Treasurer for distribution based on the population for Putnam County according to the most recent census. The school commissioners in each town apportioned the monies to each common school within their town.

Series 009 Deeds and Indentures filed with the County Clerk

Extent:	# A-Z	Volumes	1812--54	A8-RS
	# 27-57	Volumes	1853-80
	# 62-67	Volumes	1881-87(64 missing)
	# 75, 78, 81, 99, 124, 125	Volumes	1893-1923, gaps
	# 1 DB	1-125	1791-1908,	A2U1S4-3/4
	# 2 DB	126-200 + others	(Horton, etc.)

Arrangement: Deeds recorded in volumes are chronological according to the date of filing of the deed in the County Clerk’s office. Researchers should be aware that a deed may be filed years after the document was actually executed or the property acquired by gift or inheritance.

Deeds collected in document boxes were numbered by the Historian’s Office as they were processed and indexed. There is no order. Apparently, these deeds were never collected by their owners after they were recorded or the deeds were retained by the owners and found their way to the County Archives. Eight deeds have been added from the Putnam History Museum in 1912, mostly Horton from Southeast except one from Ridgefield.

Description: Deeds and indentures are land record transactions between individuals that were required to be filed with the County Clerk. Information in deeds will include the following: name of the grantor (person selling or giving the real property), the grantee (person receiving the property), description of the parcel with metes and bounds, including, frequently, the names of neighboring property owners. The price may be given as well as any conditions of sale. Metes and bounds are often difficult to understand, particularly because measurements (chains, links, etc.) are unfamiliar and because surveyors’ landmarks (e.g. chestnut tree, pile of rocks, etc.) have disappeared. The Historian’s Office has instructions on how to read and understand metes and bounds in a deed.

Multiple books seem to exist for some periods, the recording dates overlap – perhaps one kept by county clerk, another by deputy clerk, etc.

Because of their fragility or condition, some deeds and some volumes may be subject to restrictive handling. On volume P the binding and pages are loose, volume H also.

NOTE: Some finding aids are available in the Historian’s office for searching for particular deeds. There are grantor-grantee indexes 1812 to 1929 in databases as well as volumes: .081 Grantee Index for Deeds 1870-1929, .082 Grantor Index for Deeds 1870-1929, .083 Grantor/Grantee Index for Deeds 1812-1911, and .124 Forfeitures. Researchers should also consult the series of mortgages (.012, .084 and .087.) Also for use in the historian’s office: scanned deeds from Liber A through Liber 99oe

Arrangement: chronological

Description: Included in this series are reports from the Overseers from various towns in the County. The Overseer prepared these annual reports for the Secretary of State to show accounts of allowances owed by the County to the Overseers. The reports also contained the roster of persons residing at the Poorhouse. The indentures for apprenticeship placed children in private homes, where they would be taught a trade or skill. In exchange for their labor, children were to be educated, clothed, and provided with occupational training until they reach their majority, 18 for females and 21 for males. While most of children are between 10 and 14, some indentures document that children as young as 3 years old were placed in this manner. Some children were indentured by the Overseers of the Poor and others by their parents. The indentures are in two folders arranged chronologically.

Series 030 Overseers of Highways and Commissioners of Roads Reports

Extent: #1 DB 1815-1917 A2U1S5-13

Arrangement: chronological

Description: The series contains the records of the overseers of highways and commissioners of roads. During the 19th century, roads were laid out by commissioners of roads in each town, and compensation was paid to those landowners whose property was taken for a public road. People who believed that they were inadequately compensated for their land might appeal to the Court of Common Pleas. At each annual town meeting, pathmasters were appointed to maintain set portions of roads in their towns, using their own draft animals if necessary. Pathmasters usually owed a day or two of labor. Those who did not perform their required work and non-resident owners and businesses were assessed an amount of money in lieu of labor. Between 1907 and 1909, each of Putnam's towns adopted the "money system" whereby taxes instead of labor were levied on property owners for the maintenance of roads.

(Carmel, Kent, Patterson, Putnam Valley, and several documents received at a later date, not in database, 1855, 1857, 1921)

Arrangement: by town, then chronological

Description: This series contains petitions to, licenses issued by, and bonds in favor of Commissioners of Boards of Excise to sell liquor in taverns and inns (where it would be consumed on the premises), in grocery stores (where the liquor was consumed off the premises), and in stores where liquor was sold for medicinal purposes. In the early licenses, licensees swear that they will not keep a disorderly tavern or inn or permit cockfighting, playing with cards or dice, keep any billiard, any other gaming table or shuffleboard. The certificates note name, location, and type of establishment and cost of permits. The cost varies according to nature of the selling of liquor such as an 'ordinary' store (cash and carry) or a tavern or inn where the liquor would have been consumed on premises. There are some annual reports from the Commissioners of Excise and petitions to the commissioners to grant and not to grant licenses. Note also 1919-20 IRS approval during Prohibition in both Southeast and Carmel.

Arrangement: alphabetical, both by mortgagor and mortgagee, then chronological

Description: This index to the recording of mortgages includes date, liber, mortgagor, mortgagee, page, and when satisfied (only a few). This information is not complete in all volumes. A cursory examination suggests a reason for the overlap of some volumes. In the mid-1880s, for example, there are 3 volumes that cover a similar period, but there do not appear to be any duplicate recordings. However, one book appears mostly to have been recorded by the Deputy Clerk, another by the Clerk, and the third consists of preprinted forms that have been filled out and filed. Considering the tedious and laborious nature of writing out fully all recordings in the record book, it is easy to imagine that with any significant volume of filings a single clerk might easily be overwhelmed.

Description: Index alphabetical. Indentures executed by individuals with the County. The record registers names, collateral, conditions and repayment. All pages but one have a corner cut page where the original signature was fixed. This may be a method for giving a receipt for a satisfied loan. The front part of the book consists of preprinted pages ('eighteen hundred...') or forms of the New Loan-Officers of the County of Dutchess established by a law passed by the New York State legislature entitled "An act for loaning monies belonging to this state." Those executed after 1812 are with Putnam County.

The back part of the book consists of preprinted pages ('seventeen hundred...') or forms of the Loan-Officers of the said County established by a law entitled "an act for emitting the sum of two hundred thousand pounds in bills of credit, for the purposes therein mentioned." Principal is to be repaid one tenth each year from 1791 to 1800. These 'pages' have been glued to the original pages in the book – all of the original page except a small strip having been removed. The original bound pages are the same forms as in the front, but they are bound to be read from the back of the vol. Interest and principal payments are listed on the back of the documents.

	# 2 Volume	1925

Arrangement: geographical by town

The 1915 and 1925 censuses are demographic in format. Data collected and reported are organized by town, street, residence, family name, relationship to head of the family, color/race, sex, age, nativity (country of Birth), citizenship (number of years in U.S., citizen or alien, date and place naturalization), occupation, and place of institutionalization if applicable. Series 104 Assumed Name Register

Extent: 1 Volume 1903-1938 A3U6S7

Arrangement: alphabetical

Description: This is a record of persons conducting businesses under an 'assumed name.' The assumed name is the registered business name as the primary title and the owner's name as the secondary title. This data shows that many businesses of the period were service and entertainment such as bar & grills, casinos, taverns, hardware stores, garden and landscaping services, garages, department stores and inns. Since this data spans the economic period of the turn-of-the-century prosperity, World War 1, and the Great Depression era, it may offer compare/contrast evidence into the economic and social trends of a primarily agricultural economy.

The more notable farms are the politician Stuyvesant Fish's Continental Village Farm, Glencllyffe Farm, and Canopus Hollow Farm and entertainer Ray Bloch's Hollybrook Farm.

This volume is such a modest offering of registrations it seems suspect that so few farms were registered in this period. A possible explanation for this may be found if the researcher would examine Series 104, Assumed Name Register, for growth of non-farm businesses in the same time period.

2 DB 1988

Arrangement: topical

Description: In the 1880s, garbage companies and garbage districts throughout the county were finding few places for disposal of solid waste because landfill space was becoming scarce and expensive. This series includes the plan, an analysis of the waste stream, recycling and separation, and the siting of a landfill. It also includes the generic, draft and final Environmental Impact Statements in compliance with the NYS Environmental Quality Review Act of 1975, and statements and studies from opponents of the plan. Ultimately, the site selected for a landfill in Patterson created such an uproar that a county executive who supported the plan was defeated in a primary election in 1990 and the legislature rescinded its earlier vote to approve the plan. See also HC212 PRIDE for the organization and campaign of opponents of the plan and HC408 (#124-#127) Archived Vertical Files..

Description: The Surrogates' Court is the place of finalization of wills and their estates. The record shows demographic information, simple inventory or complex inventories through a series of schedules. Surrogate's Court minutes record the process of probating a will, e.g. granting letters of administration, appointing guardians, examination of witnesses, etc.

NOTE: Each volume has an alphabetical index for that volume; however, to use the volumes alone requires knowing the approximate date of the name sought. It is easier to locate a name by using the MSWord index for the 143 archives boxes in Series 034, Surrogate's Court Records. The supplement for Series 121 contains the month and year of each volume. .

Description: Since 1882, marriages have been recorded by town and village clerks. During this period only (1908-1936) they were also filed with the County Clerk. The Marriage records begin with volume Ø 1908-1918 as a simple recording of the Groom and Bride. Beginning volume #1 the format changes to 3-part form, the License, the Certificate, and the Affidavit. The first form is the Marriage License, stating basic demographic information such as name, address, age, occupation, parents name and county of origin, color “race”, number of marriages, widow or divorced, and a statement referring to a testimony for “not” having a venereal disease. The second is the Marriage Certificate stating the person who performed the ceremony, date, place, and witnesses. The third is the Affidavit for the license to Marry, a brief form repeating the same demographics. The fourth is a Certificate of Consent and is only required if one of the parties is under the age of 21.

Note: These volumes may be used as an index to locate documents in Series 070, Marriage licenses and certificates. The information recorded is the same in both places, except for the title of the person performing the ceremony which is more likely to be included on the individual forms. Both certificates and volumes appear to be filled out by the clerk – except box #1. To search by name, use database MARRIAGE.DTF or Master Name Database..

Arrangement: Chronological by town

Description: Certiorari: appellate proceeding for re-examination of action of inferior tribunal, or as auxiliary process to enable appellate court to obtain further information in pending cause. Originally, and in English practice, an original writ commanding judges or officers of inferior courts to certify or to return records or proceedings in a cause for judicial review of their action. (Black)

New York City protested the assessed valuation of its property in Putnam County – water works improvements related to the reservoirs were included in the valuations and New York City argued that they should not. The valuations were upheld by the courts, the City appealed, compromise was finally reached in 1939. Starting in 1897 in Southeast, protests seemed to have been filed against each town respectively every year until settlement.

Testimony may be found from engineers, commissioners, officials of the Aqueduct Commission, Board of Water Supply, and other offices as well as people involved in real estate, accounting, etc. and local individuals such as D. H. Knapp, A. E. Nichols, D. F. Valentine, A. S. Burgess, E. Wegmann, E. F. Joyce, A. E. Budd, O. and W. F. Bailey, E. G. and G. W. Horton, G. W. Birdsall, J. E. Tower, and others.

Much interesting insight is contained in the various testimony about the construction of the dams and aqueduct of the New Croton water system and the magnitude of the entire project.

Jurisdictions include: New York Supreme Court, Appellate Division, 2nd Judicial Department, Brooklyn; Supreme Court, 9th Judicial District; 2nd Judicial District, and possible others.

Types of documents found in this collection include: Bill of Costs, Order of Allowing Writ, Petition, Motion to Quash, Writ of Certiorari, Return, Protest to Assessors, Order and Stipulation, Stipulation and Order of Discontinuance, Stipulation of Discontinuance, etc.

Series 148 Appeals 1849-1911

Extent: # 1 document box (14 folders) 1849-1911 A2U2S4-1

Arrangement: chronological

Description: Notice of Appeal from various courts, order to stay proceeding, return on appeal, notice of exceptions and perhaps others. May be listed in Series 129, but may be no pointer (in Ser.129) to this series.

It is interesting to note, and it may be nothing more than coincidence, that an action in 1869 Fldr 2 is numbered 1957, and it has the exact same filing date, Feb 27, 1869, as number 1957 found in Series 045 box 11, but they are not related.

Series 149 Justices Returns, 1850-1924, gaps

Extent:	# 1 archives box	1850-1869	A2U3S1-6,
S2-1-2	# 3 archives box	1870-1882
	# 3 archives box	1883-1924

Arrangement: chrono

Description: These records were received by the archives listed as ‘justices returns.’ Also included were Court of Sessions records which have been separately filed in series 155. Most are civil, but there are a few criminal. These Justice Court records do not appear to be related to those in series 015. Most are from Justice(s) Court or County Court. These records are mostly appeals. Most are identified as ‘Justices Returns’ or ‘(Justices) Return on appeal’. It is not known if records for appealed cases were segregated from those that were not appealed, thus leading to the/a difference in this series and series 015. Other documents in this series include notice of appeal, stay of proceeding, order of filiation 1890, testimony, 1890 undertaking on appeal justice court, Folder 3 of 3 1878 contains a bill of items; 1893 George Cusno vs NY and New England RR Co.; 1897 John H Post account book; 1898 Jacob Stahl and Patterson tenant in Crosby house; Leonard Carey Patterson and buckboard wheels.

	Estate Daniel D. Chamberlain
	# 3 archives box	1883-1914
	# 4 archives box	1921-1936	A2U3S2-6

Arrangement: chronological

Description: These records would appear to be the same type of actions as series 017; however, no commonality could be discovered. Unlike series 017, these documents have no volume and page reference. They are perhaps criminal records. They were also received by the archives totally independently of the records in series 017, and have therefore been designated as a separate series. It is suggested that both series be consulted.

Type of record includes (court) (additional) (rough) minutes (from 1844 through 1917 most of the documents are minutes; thereafter grand jury records predominate), decisions, opinion, list of decisions, printed Newburgh decisions 1862, printed decisions rendered 2nd district Brooklyn 1864, findings, evidence, calendar, jury list, excused from jury service, affidavit (of merit), verdict, instructions to grand jury, petition of Highway Commissioners to assess damages, receiver's bond, appointment of trustee, petition, affidavit, notice of pendency, mechanic's lien. Courts include Supreme Court in Equity, Common Pleas, County Court, General Sessions, Supreme Court, different terms and/or circuits, Oyer and Terminer.

Numerous foreclosures were found mixed in; they have been put in series 012 AB#1, folders 1-4. Numerous Grand Jury testimony transcripts were mixed in (mostly 1917-1923) and they were inter-filed with series 062 Grand Jury Minutes.

Several large format and very brittle documents, mostly printed court decisions, have been filed separately and are in process.

No known index. Not in database. Some actions may be indexed in series 063 Supreme Court Orders, county recording thereof, viz. 1865 James W Horton Agt James Fowler recorded in vol 1 series 063 page 252.

Description: In 1988-89, the US Government, the State of New York and its local governments celebrated the bicentennial of the adoption of the 1789 US Constitution. The Federal government and New York provided funding for commemorative events to be held at the local level. In Putnam County, County Historian Isabel Walsh was the local chair of a bicentennial commission which distributed grant money for town and village celebrations. While the towns were preparing to celebrate the constitution, they were simultaneously commemorating the bicentennial of the creation of the three towns of Philipstown, Fredericksburgh, and Southeast in 1788, and some events celebrated the towns' anniversaries and the Constitutions' together.
